THURSDAY, MARCH 31, 1859.

THE PROSPERITY OF LOUISVILLE.—The merchants of Louisville have abundant reason to congratulate themselves upon their prosperity during the present season. The city has not known for many years a period equal to the present in all that goes to make up the prosperity of a city. Most of our readers are aware that this is the harvest time for the majority of our dealers; and truly they are reaping an abundant yield for their labor. The opinion is expressed by well informed merchants that the general business of the city is better by 33 per cent. than it has been for five years past; and, judging the future of the season by what is already known, the present is likely to be the most extended and productive "spring business" ever done in Louisville. Nor is the trade of the city based upon the increased facility for credit which has grown up since the last financial crisis. The cash receipts have augmented quite in proportion to the increase in the amount of sales, and the character of the business is satisfactory both to buyer and seller. The sales of a single house to the country trade alone for one week during this month have exceeded one hundred thousand dollars, and the average sales nearly equal that amount per week. The increase in our country trade, of which this is a fair comparative exposition of the municipal expenses of Louisville and several other cities of larger and smaller population, and governed by different political parties. From an examination of this valuable statement, it will be seen that the Courier has, in no single instance, consulted proper authorities, but has made vague and reckless assertions, designed to influence the popular mind and prejudice it against the true and honest conservation of the pecuniary interests of Louisville. For the sake of a party triumph, it has committed the flagrant wrong of imputing motives and acts to a set of honorable gentlemen—the recipients, time and again, of the popular confidence—which, if true, would render them felons under the laws. It is in justice to them that we have taken the trouble to prepare and publish this statement, and not from any apprehension we entertain that the wild improbabilities, the glaring misstatements, or the devilish malice of the Courier can cast a speck or flaw on the character of those who have engendered that bitter hate in its breast, which is the natural and irrepressible tribute always paid by direct and low cunning to integrity of purpose and consistency of action.

By this statement it will be seen that the highest value of ground per foot in Louisville is $900, while in St. Louis it is $2,000, in Chicago $1,500, and in Pittsburg $1,000; and that the total city, county, and State tax on $100 in Louisville is $1 65 against $2 35 in St. Louis, $2 05 in Chicago, $2 35 in Pittsburg, $1 79 in Cincinnati, and $2 05 in New Albany. This conclusively refutes the allegations that our assessments are extraordinarily high, and our rates of taxation inordinately onerous.

☞ The Courier is afflicted with a chronic desire to injure the city of Louisville. While our citizens are high in congratulation at its growing prosperity, the erection of new dwellings, the attraction of operatives to its borders, the increase of manufactures, the large additional investments of capital, the full compensation obtained for all kinds of labor, and the stimulus given to all kinds of business, the Courier, in the hope to add a vote to its miserable cause and party, declares that Louisville has been "reduced to a MERE MART FOR THE SALE AND EXCHANGE OF COMMODITIES MANUFACTURED ABROAD in cities not cursed with Know-Nothing rulers." We have elsewhere this morning given our views of the "prosperity of Louisville" in an article which was dictated by no party bias, and to that we ask attention as the best refutation of the mean libel upon our city which the Courier has uttered. Men of our workshops and looms, of our foundries, glass houses, and machine shops; you who have so aided the progress of the city by your skill in making boilers, engines, carriages, steam pipes, gas fittings, pottery, harness, terra cotta ornaments, cooking ranges, stoves, &c.; all of you to whom, in its notice of the State Fair and Mechanics' Institute Exhibition, last fall, the Courier paid such high and deserved compliment, just reflect one moment on the unpatriotic, mean, pitiful course it now adopts, as the miserable organ of a miserable party, when it would rob you and the city of your love of all credit for energy, enterprize, inventive power, or mechanical skill, and asserts that Louisville is a mere mart for the sale and exchange of commodities manufactured by your rivals abroad! The Courier, in return for this stab at your fair fame, wants you to rote its ticket next Saturday. Can you do it?

☞ The Democrats complain that there is not time to take all the votes in the First Ward, and a neat calculation has been made to prove the fact. The premiser, however, are unsound. They say it will take at least one minute for the judges to examine a foreigner's papers and deposit his ballot. From 7 until 6 there are only 660 minutes, ergo only that number of voters can exercise their privileges. The entire number of votes cast last summer by the Democratic party in that ward, with two precincts and no tax qualification, was 462, and if all of these vote there will remain for our party 200 minutes, in which time, as there will be very few papers to examine, we will guaranty that over 500 of our voters will have ample time to vote. The truth is, a good clerk can average about four votes to the minute, when it is done by ballot, and the excuses now made for the defeat on Saturday are too flimsy. Give up like men, when you are defeated, all ye unterrified, but don't make such silly excuses beforehand.

☞ The Democrats are endeavoring to elect one or two ward officers by snapping the whole of their city ticket off for a vote for each. Our friends should be too smart to allow any such ticket to deceive them. We can elect every ward officer by handsome majorities, and there should be no split ticket upon our side. Offers to swap votes always indicate weakness, and we hope our friends will spurn every such suggestion just as if a bribe were held out to them. Vote the straight ticket, and don't allow the Democrats a crumb of comfort by the election of a solitary candidate. Even if a bargain has been made to swap, we would advise a close watch to be kept, for the Democrats will cheat in the matter, despite their promises.

☞ We might perhaps have guessed the riddle of the Sphinx in old Theban times, and obtained Jocasta's hand in marriage as our reward, but from the days of lucky Œnipus has there existed a man who could unravel the enigma of European complication as detailed in our telegraphic columns this morning? Lord Cowley's mission has been "successful," and "he has obtained some important result in the interest of peace;" the Paris Bourse is both lower and higher; France and Austria have "consented to diminish their armaments," and yet the "Austrian journals are bellicose," and Louis Napoleon prohibits furloughs, has grand reviews, and orders the Lyons railway to be ready to transport 75,000 troops! Who can unriddle this contrariety of rumors and opinions? Are we to expect the clang of war or the olive of peace?

☞ Three-headed Cerberus is a more appropriate crest for Democracy than double faced Janus. In its Pennsylvania State Convention it advocated "adequate encouragement and discriminating protection of the industrial interests of the State." In its Tennessee State Convention it asserted that "a tariff for revenue alone is the true policy of the country." And the Washington Star, which is the organ of the Southern States' Rights Democracy, says: "If there be any one measure of public policy upon which the party has planted itself more distinctly and obstinately than another it is the very proposition of Free Trade." Thus it is Northern and growing for Protection, the Western head balks for a Revenue Tariff, and the Southern head brays loudly at both and howls for Free Trade. "Great country, this!"

☞ Citizens will greatly facilitate voting on Saturday by having their tax receipts ready to show at the polls, that they may be stamped to prevent them from being used a second time. If the tax-receipts have been mislaid, it will be necessary to make oath as to the payment of the tax, though any one whose name is on the collectors' books can obtain a duplicate by applying to them at the proper office.

☞ Col. Preston has had an audience with the Queen of Spain of the most friendly character on both sides. The more interviews he has with her majesty the more gracious she is bound to be, and we should not be surprised if she grants him all he asks.

It is a notorious fact that the faction which controls the destinies of this city has very little pecuniary interest in it beyond what they manage to extort from the tax payers in the shape of extravagant salaries.—Courier.

Here is another bald assertion from the Major Longhow of the Courier, which we desire to refute by the official documents on our first page. The salaried officers of Louisville are fewer in number and less liberally paid in general than in other cities to which reference is made in the statement. Let us compare Louisville, with 70,000 population, and St. Louis, with 150,000 population, or about double, as to their police:

Police Officers.	Louisville.	St. Louis.
Number of Police Officers	41	172
Salary of Chief of Police	$1,500	$2,000
Salary Clerk of Police	720	800
Salary Private of Police	720	600

In Louisville there is one police officer to every 1,707 inhabitants, and in St. Louis one to every 872 of the population, so that with double work our officers have only 20 per cent more pay, while the salaries of the Chief and his Clerk are much lower Compare the pay of our Police Attorney, Marshal, and Clerk of Police Court, and see how moderate their salaries are in comparison, and then look a the total salaries of the Police and city officers.

City.	Police.	City Officers.	Total.
Louisville	24,600	24,350	$49,300
St. Louis	100,000	42,400	142,400
Chicago	84,000	25,700	109,700
Pittsburg	21,120	10,000	31,120
Cincinnati	64,000	50,415	120,415
Nashville	14,15	4,000	18,165
New Albany	7,750	2,750	6,485

A careful inspection of the statement will dispel all the false theories of the Courier, and establish the fact we have so often asserted, that Louisville is as economically governed as any city in the Union. But let us look at another charge of the Courier, which is as follows:

Now, when property is valued exceedingly high tour of the journal's residence of the prosperity of our city, one dollar is assessed upon every one hundred dollars worth of property, exclusive of school tax, poriat, state tax, and railroad tax. Of the two last named to one complaints. They are exposed, but the others are excessive and indefensible, and can never be ameliorated, nor the city improved in reputation, as long as this partisan and irresponsible faction usurps and misgoverns it.

We have shown that property with us is not valued so high as in other cities, and by reference to the statement it will be seen that our school tax and gas tax, which the Courier says "are excessive and indefensible," are much below the rates in other places. Thus the school tax of Louisville is 5 cents on the dollar, while Chicago is 20, Pittsburg 40, Nashville 20, and New Albany 10. So too with our gas tax, which is only 10 cents, while in Chicago it is 20, and Cincinnati levies a special tax to pay for light on the property fronting streets lighted by gas. Thus, charge by charge, we can disprove every allegation of the Courier and hold it up in the pillory of scorn for its malignant efforts to injure our city's credit and good standing in the paltry effort to gain a partisan advantage.

☞ A favorite charge, in the political tactics of the Courier, is the assertion that while city property is assessed at a very high valuation to make the rate of taxation appear moderate, our taxes are very onerous, and indeed it says they "are excessive and indefensible, and can never be ameliorated" until a change is made in our municipal government. We ask the attention of those who pay taxes, and of the Courier, to a statement, which want of inside room compels us to place on the first page of this morning's Journal. It is compiled from official letters received by the Mayor, and gives a full comparative exposition of the municipal expenses of Louisville and several other cities of larger and smaller population, and governed by different political parties. From an examination of this valuable statement, it will be seen that the Courier has, in no single instance, consulted proper authorities, but has made vague and reckless assertions, designed to influence the popular mind and prejudice it against the true and honest conservation of the pecuniary interests of Louisville. For the sake of a party triumph, it has committed the flagrant wrong of imputing motives and acts to a set of honorable gentlemen—the recipients, time and again, of the popular confidence—which, if true, would render them felons under the laws. It is in justice to them that we have taken the trouble to prepare and publish this statement, and not from any apprehension we entertain that the wild improbabilities, the glaring misstatements, or the devilish malice of the Courier can cast a speck or flaw on the character of those who have engendered that bitter hate in its breast, which is the natural and irrepressible tribute always paid by direct and low cunning to integrity of purpose and consistency of action.

By this statement it will be seen that the highest value of ground per foot in Louisville is $900, while in St. Louis it is $2,000, in Chicago $1,500, and in Pittsburg $1,000; and that the total city, county, and State tax on $100 in Louisville is $1 65 against $2 35 in St. Louis, $2 05 in Chicago, $2 35 in Pittsburg, $1 79 in Cincinnati, and $2 05 in New Albany. This conclusively refutes the allegations that our assessments are extraordinarily high, and our rates of taxation inordinately onerous.

THE MOUNT VERNON FUSS.—We learn from the Mount Vernon Record that the third instalment in payment for Mount Vernon, with the interest thereon, was paid up on the 23d inst. The association has now paid $158,333 32 of the sum of $200,000 required to secure the title to Mount Vernon—$150,000 of which has been paid in a little more than three months. Forty-one thousand six hundred and sixty-six dollars sixty-six cents, with interest thereon, is yet to be provided for, being the 4th instalment, due February 22, 1862.

☞ The Philadelphia Ledger hears, from private letters received from persons attached to the Paraguay expedition, that, if Lopez resolves on resistance, the naval force there must contend itself to a blockade, which may last till next October, when the rise of the river will enable reinforcements to reach it; and that to make an attack with the present force would be more desperate than the charge of the "Light Brigade:" at Balaklava.

☞ Postmaster-General Holt has dismissed thirty-one agents, and, as the Department can get along without them, the inference is that they never could have been of any use. A cotemporary enquires what their business was? It was the pleasure of spending $1200 a year, each.

THE GIBSON AND HOLMES COLLISION.

FURTHER DETAILS OF THE DISASTER.

We gleaned the following particulars yesterday from passengers and the clerks of the lluvid Gibson, and the pilot of the pilot-of the Nat. Holmes.

The night was dark and stormy. Pilot Wm. Irwin, who was at the wheel of the Gibson, states he was coming up the Kentucky shore, and reached the point below Petersburg, when the Holmes, descending, blew her whistle. He saw the clouds of smoke and steam together, with the state of the weather, prevented him from seeing the Holmes until she was within a short distance of the Gibson. Holmes, immediately stopped the engines and commenced backing the Gibson, when the boats came together—her bow striking the Holmes on the larboard side opposite the forward end of the boilers.

The Holmes being laden principally with iron went down almost instantly, head foremost—the cabin separating from the hull and floating off The Gibson remained by the wreck until it was discovered that she was also sinking, when she was immediately headed for shore, and went down on the Kentucky shore, at the point above Aurora. The cabin of the Gibson also parted from the hull when she struck the bank and was swept off.

The scene was terrible beyond description. As the Holmes went down in the middle of the river scenes of the most heart-rending and distressing nature were heard on either shore. The cabin of the Lawrenceburg Register thus describes the scene:

We were at Aurora at the time of the catastrophe, and the wails that went up from the drowning sufferers would make the stoutest heart quake. As soon as the cry of distress was heard at Aurora, all that was in the power of the citizens was rendered. Every skiff that could be found was put in requisition, and the other officers of the boat, and insured for $12,000 in Pittsburg offices. Mr John S. Gaff way was at the wheel when the accident occurred. The Gibson only had ten or twelve cabin and a few deck passengers. None of her passengers were lost. The cook and two or three of the deck hands are missing and supposed to be lost. The cook's name is Scott or Gibson.

Her cargo, a total loss, consisted of 610 bbls of sugar, 18 crates earthen ware, 300 bbls rosin, 25 tons scrap iron, 100 boxes cigars, 18 sacks fruit, 100 bbls tar, 50 boxes and 4 casks wine, 9 bales cotton, 10 stacks dried fruit, 82 dry hides.

We understand the sugar was insured in the Hiremen and Western offices, of this city, for $45,000. The Gibson's freight list is insured in New Orleans and Cincinnati for $2,500.

The passengers and officers of both steamers List everything. The crew of the Gibson speak in terms of praise of the hospitality of Mr. Wm. Creighton, who did all in his power to relieve the sufferers.

The cabin of the Gibson floated ashore just below Aurora. The crew of the Holmes were all saved except Mr. Caldwell, the engineer, and a cabin boy.

The following list of persons lost on the Nat. Holmes is furnished by the Cincinnati Gazette:

From Mr. Lamont, clerk of the Holmes, we obtained the following list of the lost from off that boat. A Frenchman named Louis Dupon, wife, and three children, re-shipped from the Clara Dean at Cincinnati; Henry Welch, wife, and three children, of Wheeling, Va; a family of seven shipped at Wheeling, names unknown, consisting of a man, wife, two daughters, and son; David Gilley, of Allegheny, Pa.; John Milligan, of Rush township, Tuscarawas county, O.; John Yance, from Wheeling, Va.; Samuel Owarth, wife, and child, from Parkersburg for Madison, Ind.; James Caldwell engineer; Hiram F. Griffith and sister, Emma Ann Griffith, from Bridgport, O., for Burlington, Iowa; Herman Nold, wife, and three children, Pittsburg; a French girl, name unknown; a colored woman and a child, name unknown, was found yesterday at the foot of Langbrey Island; Thomas McDonald, ——Logan, and John Evans, deck hands, and a colored boy, name unknown, and a deck hand, Gaffney, from Cincinnati; and ——Williams, cabin boy; James L. Griffin lost a daughter and son and $2,000. Four others are missing, but are supposed to have come up on the Kentucky shore. The Holmes had 56 cabin and 30 deck passengers.

PROPELLER BROWN UP.—The propeller Lady of the Lake, belonging to the Northern Transportation Company's New York and Erie Railroad line, left this port on Friday evening for Dunkirk, having on board 1,000 barrels flour, 1,000 bushels lightwines, 100 barrels of pork, 300 bags of wheat, 100 tierces of hams, and sundry barrels of eggs, seed, &c.

On Saturday afternoon, between one and two o'clock, she left Fairport and headed down lake. When about half a mile from the pier the boiler suddenly exploded, tearing out all the after part of the propeller and causing her to fill rapidly. After drifting some distance from the point of the accident she sank in about 17 feet water.

The regular crew of the propeller is about thirteen men. Of these six were blown up with the portions of the boat.—Cleveland Herald.

Letter from Texas.—Both Gen. Twiggs and Major Neighbors have become satisfied that the Reserves cannot be maintained in peace, without greater expense than the United States would or ought to incur, and the latter has recommended the removing of the Reserve Indians to the Indian lands exclusively within the jurisdiction of the United States. Major Neighbors authorizes us to say to those citizens who feel such hostility towards the Indians, that he doubts not, but if they will suspend their indignation a few months a peaceable removal will be accomplished.

One Million of Acres to be Sold.—The Legislature just ended passed an act ordering the sale of another million of acres of State or swamp land. The act is to go into effect sixty days after its approval by the Governor. This will be on the 15th of April. A large belt of the finest land in the State will come into market at the minimum price of $1 25 per acre.—Baton Rouge Gazette.

Arrested.—A man was yesterday arrested in the eastern portion of the city, on suspicion of having committed a murder at Bowling Green, Ky.

Memphis Appeal.

HORRIBLE AFFAIR.—A White Man Killed by a Negro On last Saturday morning the people of the neighboring county of Lincoln, in Kentucky, were startled and horrified by the occurrence of a deed of blood in their midst which in its savage ferocity in the annals of crime is seldom seen, on the farm of Mr. Burbanke, on the opposite shore of the river, a short distance from this place, and consisted in the cold blooded murder of his eldest son, a boy of about fifteen years, by a negro slave, named Jim. The negro was pursued by the sons of John J. Clark, engaged upon the farm, to aid him in subduing the refractory spirit of the slave. The negro, armed with an ax, turned clark not to give the attack upon him, saying that he would have whipped by his master that day, with other words, which greatly provoked advanced upon the negro, little suspecting that he was threatening attack, and with one stroke of the ax, the negro felled him to the earth, killing him instantly. The blow, struck with the edge of the ax at the point of the shoulder, and glancing downwards, laid clark's breast open in a most fearful manner. As soon as expected the excitement among the people, attending the committal of so fiery like a deed, was intense, and the only fear is that the negro was not hung or burnt at the stake at once. Propositions to that effect were made, but we are glad to say, to the credit of the citizens of Lincoln, a better judgment prevailed, and that the negro was lodged in jail at Stanford to await the due course of the law, when there is no doubt he will be hung. The deceased was for some time a resident of our county and bore the reputation of an honest, peaceable, and quiet citizen, and was possessed of some property. We understand that he has or had two sisters living in New York.

☞The Card of Auditor Pope, addressed to the citizens of Louisville, is a full, thorough, and triumphant answer to the assaults upon the financial management of the city, which the Locofocs have been indiscreet enough to make. In justice to Mr. Pope, to the officers having control of our monetary affairs, and to themselves, we ask every tax-payer to read this card, and prepare themselves to vote on Saturday with a full understanding of the nature of their responsibilities should they attempt to oppose the men who have so admirably, economically and wisely husbanded the resources and restricted the expenditures of our city.

☞There will be a meeting of the Opposition in the Second Ward at the Kentucky Engine House on this (Thursday) evening at 7½ o'clock, to nominate a candidate for the Council in the place of W. P. Campbell, declined.

☞A meeting of the Opposition of the Eighth Ward will be held at the Rescue Engine-house this evening. Mr. Baird and several other speakers will be present.

☞A coalhouse and stable belonging to Mr. A. Boone, on Jacob street, between First and Brook, were burned down yesterday morning. The fire bells gave no alarm.

PROBABLE ARREST OF TWO RASCALS.—For three or four years a firm named Cohen & Lewis have been conducting a country store near Wood sonville. Their credit here was good and some weeks ago they purchased several thousand dollars worth of goods from different houses in this city. About a week ago they disappeared, and inquiry being set on foot it was ascertained that the goods they had bought here had been shipped by them to Lebanon, and that they had taken them to several places and sold them at auction for whatever they would bring. It was also ascertained that they had passed forged notes on a number of their neighbors and on citizens of Woodsonville for large amount.

The police in the different cities were telegraphed to: and yesterday the Chief of the Police received at di patch from Deputy Chief Carpenter, of New York, inquiring what Cohen & Lewis were charged with. A reply was promptly forwarded. From this it is inferred that the parties are in New York, and ere this have probably been arre ted.

☞Another concert, by Ishe de, Pilsnot, Karl Formes, Satter, and Thomas, will be given at the Masonic Temple to-morrow night, being positively the last appearance of most of the artists in our city, as their engagements soon call them back to Europe. Mr. Palmer, the energetic manager for Mr. Ullman, has resolved to popularize this concert by placing the admission at the uniform price of fifty cents and no extra charge for reserved seats, which may be secured at B. P. Fauld's' music store upon application. There is no diversity of opinion as to this being the finest combination of talent ever presented in our city, and Gustavus Satter the most accomplished pianist ever heard in the country. We are much gratified at the determination to give the additional concert, as it will enable all of our music loving citizens to enjoy the glorious singing of the prima donna, the wonderful vocalization of Formes, the exquisite playing of Satter, and the graceful fantasias on the violin by Thomas.

The company go to Lexington this morning and give a concert there in the evening, to which we invite the special attention of our friends in that city, assuring them that they have never before had an opportunity of hearing such a galaxy of vocal and instrumental stars.

THEATER.—This evening we are to be treated with Shakspeare's tragic play of the Winter's Tale, Miss Vandenhoff assuming the part of Hermione and Mr. Swinbourne that of Leontes. We anticipate a delightful treat from this performance, for there is great interest, intense force, and much true poetry in the plot and language of the play. Miss Vernon performs Perdita, and will look beautiful in her shepherd's dress and superb in her subsequent royal attire. Mrs. Gilbert sustains the part of Paulina, which she rendered so effectively last season.

YOUNG AMERICA.—Yesterday a small boy fell from the stage plank of the Southerner and would have drowned had not Capt. J. B. Hamilton waded into the river to his armpits and pulled him out. After reaching terra firma the boy shook himself and looking up to the Captain, remarked: "I'll be d—d if you ain't a man!" The Captain thanked him for the compliment.

☞A dispatch from Washing on says that the Union newspaper has been sold to Col. George W. Bowman, late superintendent of public printing, who takes possession on the 11th of April

☞Work on the Tuscumbia or Railroad was commenced on the 4th inst. The event was made the o casion of a celebration.

WRIGHT'S PORTRAIT OF EDWARD EVERETT.—The universal opinion of critics in art who are familiar with Mr. Everett's features is that this is the most perfect portrait of the orator ever made. The opinion is undoubtedly correct. If, however, Wright's portrait is beyond question the best likeness of Mr. Everett extant, Smith's engraved copy of it is certainly next in this point of merit. A most expert and exquisite as well as life-like picture it is. No admirer of the ripest and most consummate orator of our country and of the age should on my account forego its possession. The engraving is published by T. H. Leavitt, 37 Park Row, New York. The Publisher's advertisement will be seen in another column.

☞The Daughter of the Regiment is to be performed to-night at Mozart Hall, for the benefit of that very clever artist, Mr. Rodolphese. Miss Milner will play Maria, and from the naivete and archness she exhibited as Adina we expect to see the character rendered to perfection. As a finale, she will, by general request, introduce "Le, hear the Gentle Lark." The entire company will perform, and as it is their last operatic performance in our city we hope to see a full house. Reserved places may be secured at Fauld's music store.

FIRE IN MOULTON, ALABAMA.—On the 16th inst., a fire broke out in Moulton, Ala., which consumed some five or six buildings, including the court-house and the office of the Moulton Democrat. Little or nothing was saved from the tavern-office, the occupants losing clothing, furniture, papers, &c. The Democrat lost its press and a portion of its type and fixtures. The Moulton Masonic Lodge lost their furniture and fixtures, but saved the records of the Lodge and the jewels. The total loss of property is estimated at from fifteen to twenty thousand dollars.

FINE OPPORTUNITY FOR BUYERS OR EXCHANGERS.—We beg to call the attention of our business men to the advertisement in another column offering a farm in Missouri for sale or exchange.

The farm in question is situated four miles from Canton, the seat of the county, in Shelby county, containing 160 acres of smooth prairie land, well timbered, and in a state of high cultivation, being, in fact, in the estimation of the most competent and impartial judge, one of the very best farms in Missouri. The owner, Mr. J. W. W. Smith, a native of Kentucky, wishes to return to this State, and, accordingly, proposes to sell his splendid Missouri estate, or exchange it for property in our city. In the latter event, he would greatly prefer some flourishing grocery establishment.

Mr. Smith may be seen at the United States Hotel. A number of our most respectable citizens are ready from personal knowledge to vouch for the correctness of his representations.

☞We omitted to mention yesterday in the notice of Gautier & Co's stock that they have a most excellent assortment of wines and liquors. Their brands are the very best that can be procured. The reader may be able to form some idea of them when we state that their finest brandy is sold at $36 per gallon.

Thos. Naughton, assault and attempt to commit a rape on Eliza A. Vandegriff. Ball in $400 to answer in the court. Ball given. On a peace warrant, Vandegriff was held to bail in $200 for six months.

REMARKS—Morning cloud; afternoon clear; weather pleasant.

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

The river had fallen two feet in the twenty-four hours ending last evening, leaving a little over 7 feet over the rocks in the Indiana chute. If the river continues falling at this ratio to-day, boats will not be able to ascend the falls any longer.

The Cumberland was falling on Monday evening with 7 feet water on the shoals.

The John Raine.—This steamer doubtless arrived last night. The Raine is advertised to leave for New Orleans. She is a fine boat and Capt. Underwood and Mr. Palsell, her two chief officers, are careful and polite officers.

The Nando.—This swift packet resumes her trips in the Henderson trade to-day, starting from the city wharf at 5 o'clock this evening.

The John Tompkins is the regular Tennessee river packet. She is advertised to leave this evening.

The fine steamer John Gault, Capt. Bunce, will leave for Nashville this evening. Capt. Reeder is the clerk and Mr. Mullen is his assistant.

The elegant Jacob Strader is the mailboat for Cincinnati to-day, and the Emma Dean is the Carrollton packet.

The Bracelet arrived in t night, and was were furnished by her attentive clerk, Mr. Edwards, with a copy of the manifest. The Bracelet will have quick dispatch.

The R. J. Ward passed Memphis at noon yesterday. She will arrive Saturday morning and leave on Saturday evening.

The Republic is due from New Orleans to-night. The Die Vernon left St. Louis last evening for this port.

The Memphis Bulletin of Sunday says:

The river came to a stand during Friday night and again commenced falling yesterday. By measurement at five o'clock last evening the water was within 13½ inches of the high-line of last year, and 1½ inches below where it stood 24 hours previous. This state of affairs is somewhat puzzling to the e who watch the condition of the river attentively, the general expectation having been that it would continue rising for some days yet. However, the fact of the fall yesterday was indisputable, and we earnestly hope to be able to report its continuance until a reasonable stage of water is again reached.

THE CAMPBELL MINSTRELS.—We learn from Mr. Dick Moore that this fine band of negro minstrels will give four entertainments in this city next week, commencing on Monday. It is one of the best bands of the kind in the country, and is always well patronized.

☞Nashville was visited on Monday night with a violent storm, which unroofed a number of buildings and did much damage to property.

☞The Supreme Court of Missouri has decided that the arrest of a person for a crime committed elsewhere on information by telegraph and his detention until a requisition can be procured is legal.

☞James L. Phillips, who was wounded on the steamer David Tatum one day last week, died at the Hospital last night. The examination of the two men charged with inflicting the wound has been postponed until to-morrow.

☞The only arrest yesterday was a man named Baker, who is charged with stealing iron from a blacksmith shop.

☞Chocolate drinkers will do well to procure the article prepared by W. Baker & Co. It has for many years enjoyed a very high reputation for purity and efficacy of flavor. For sale by D. C. Murray, New York, Agent, and Grocers generally.

☞Per New Albany and Salem Railroad we have St. Louis papers of yesterday.

☞Mr. John P. Smith, an old citizen and for many years agent of the City Schools, died last night. His disease was dropsy, from which he has suffered for the last three months.

THE SEIZURE OF THE BARK RAWLINS

U. S. CONSULATE,
ANTARCTOLA, March 17, 1859.

I take the first opportunity of writing to you all that has transpired during our cruise in De Yera. The collector of this port came on board last Monday, and we got under weigh and run down the coast to St Josephs, where we remained the bark A. A. Rawlins, which we had already supposed to be engaged in the slave trade. We ranged so by on the first instance and landed the officer, and on the next quarter deck, in answer, said it was the bark Rosa Lee, of Savannah. The number of our consular flag were then ordered, and he ordered the Rawline to let go her port anchor, and then a boat sit h a detachment of officers and men was sent to capture her. The Rawlins was then under the Spanish (Spaniard) ware put in irons. They could not speak English, and we had to employ a Spanish boat to act as interpreter. The prisoners stated that they had ship d at Havana for the purpose of sailing the vessel out of that harbor, and that it was their intention to sell the vessel and proceed to some foreign settlement in a schooner.

We took the Rawlins in tow the following day and brought her to A alachicola, and moored her in proximity to the city. The cook and cabin boy of the vessel have since confessed their connection with the vessel. The other boy was shipped in the vessel at Savannah, and that she belonged to Mr Tanner, of that city, and that he went out with new rigging and sails, and placed on board a cargo of rice for Havana. When the vessel reached the latter place she was sold to the crew and the boy's interest. It is that the vessel was afterwards sold to a commercial house in Havana. Under the circumstances of the case, the Rawlins, and also the first and second mates, remained on board, and it was deemed advisable to send them from the conversation of the officers that the vessel was engaged in the slaving voyage. It was also seen that another cargo of negroes was expected which it was supposed would be brought to the place of sailing the vessel out of that harbor, and that in the event of the appearance of such a vessel it was to be under the command of her American captain, and when she got down to a certain part of the coast of Cuba, he was to give the vessel up to the Spaniard. He also alleged as a reason, thus sold to have been made, was not published to the part of the people who, on board as a sailor, refused to obey the vessel, peremptorily refused.

The cabin boy said the Spanish flag and a large amount of money in his charge, he dre a sizeable gold chronometer watch, and other valuables. The Rawlins is a fine looking craft—the finest model I ever beheld. She is a prize to our vessel.

WRECK OF A BRITISH MAN-OF-WAR.—Great Destruction of Life.—The steamship Star of the West, Captain Mallory, a passenger from Havana on the steamer Karnak, which arrived at this port at 1 o'clock this morning, has given our reporter the following terrible account of the loss of the Jamaica.

The British steamer Tanner, which was living at Jamaica on the 1st inst., received orders to set out immediately on a cruise, and left directly sailed from that port. On the night of the 4th inst. she struck a hidden rock to the northward of Jamaica. The pumps were immediately manned, but they were of no avail, and when it was discovered that the water was rapidly gaining, and that it would be impossible to keep her up but a short time.

The captain ordered a raft to be constructed, and to this raft were attached the two launches in order to carry more people, and the men, to number, all went aboard with such scanty provisions as they could save during the hurried and trying work.

When they put out in rough after the men took to the raft, and they had not been out above two hours when ten men were swept overboard and drowned. All efforts to rescue them were unavailing, as the sea was so high that it was impossible to prevent being washed after them.

The captain ordered a rope to be taken to the larger to the raft, took nineteen men with him in the small or boat, and let the remaining twenty-nine into the larger one. It was considered that the raft would be more safe, and the captain said they would each make the best of their way to land without any further help. After a short time the boats were separated by the wind, and the larger boat completely lost sight of the raft. Nothing of it since and is believed to have been lost with all on board.

The little provisions the men on the small boat had taken with them were soon exhausted, and the crew and party was subjected to the double sufferings of cold and famine, and about noon on Saturday last the provisions were gone, the boat was driven to a port on the southern coast of Cuba, and the entire party arrived.

The gentlemen here mentioned set out out two vessels to cruise in search of the missing boat; but their search had proved fruitless, and they had returned.

INQUEST NO. 93.—Held at the city hospital upon the body of James L. Phillips, aged 23 years. Verdict, "Came in his death on the evening of the 29th instant, from a wound inflicted with a knife in the right side of the chest while engaged in a conflict with persons unknown to the jurors." Board the steamer David Tatum, on Friday morning, the 25th inst.

J. M. BUCHANAN, Coroner.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, March 29th, 1859. mr30 dtd

A CARD.

TO THE CITIZENS OF LOUISVILLE.

Since October last I have been made the object of misrepresentation and attack in the columns of the Louisville Courier and its partisans upon the streets, in conversations, speeches, and electioneering documents. The whole effort of the Democratic party seems to be my defeat particularly; their candidates seem to think that they advance their own interests by urging to the people that I am incompetent and should not be elected.

I have never heretofore noticed these attacks, believing that they were harmless, and not desiring to obtrude myself officiously upon the public, and would not do so at this time, were it not that friends urge me to do so.

In making my appeal to the citizens of Louisville, I assume them that everything contained herein is susceptible of proof. In proof of my competency, I refer to members of the General Council from 1851 to this date, to accomplished accountants who from time to time have assisted me in my office, or who have at my solicitation examined my accounts, and to my fellow officers. As to my courtesy, readiness to oblige, and complete knowledge of the minute duties of my office, I refer to every person ever having business with the city of Louisville through this department. I am too poor to run the risk of remaining idle, perhaps for months, and therefore seek the office as a means of support to a large and helpless family, and to enable me to pay off debts incurred by the building of a small house.

Before entering upon an explanation of the Auditor's report, about which so much has been written and spoken, I beg leave to refer to some of the charges of reckless extravagance and expenditure made by the Courier against the officers of the municipal government.

That paper charges that since the advent of the "Know-Nothings" to power they have "squandered" $3,000,000, and increased the expense of the city in paying police and other officers, of market houses, workhouse, &c., without cause or reason, or merely to gratify and reward partisans.

In 1855 there was expended $654,808 40
In 1856 ..... 466 581 41
In 1857 ..... 460,201 59
In 1858 ..... 646,124 46
$2,227,715 86

Of this sum there was expended in paying interest on bonds as follows:

1855 ..... $40,926 04
1856 ..... 52,609 37
1857 ..... 26,050 30
1857, Lou. & Nash. R. R tax 69,467 76
1858 ..... 90,209 50
$283,317 97

Expended in the redemption of bonds, paying debts of the town of Portland, in stock (cash subscription) in Louisville and Nashville Railroad Co., to Louisville and Frankfort Railroad Company, and Water Interest, viz:

Bonds $384,710 00
Town of Portland 16,989 38
Louisville and Nashville Railroad 162,582 02
Louisville and Frankfort Railroad 48,742 70
Water Interest 20,063 20
$633,567 30

Expended in paying J. Rowan's executors their one-fourth net wantage, in salaries of Market Masters and erection of new Houses, salaries of sinking fund officers, cleaning and repairing wharves and commissions to Wharf Master, paid this sum, viz:

J. Rowan's executors $11,357 51
Portland Wharf 17,263 02
City Wharf 15,450 24
Strader's Wharf 5,385 45
Market Houses 29,330 72
Salaries of Sinking Fund Officers, &c.... 12,748 38
Purchase of Water Bonds 20,330 25
Clay street Ferry Landing 3,336 98
Taverns and coffeehouse licenses refunded 16,063 21
$121,418 76

Expended in paying salaries for School Trustees, and other expenses of public schools for some time, viz:

Schoolhouse Fund—erection of houses .. $9,265 77
Salaries of Teachers for 1855 ..... 53,134 84
" " 1856 ..... 40,888 67
" " 1857 ..... 44,189 98
" " 1858 ..... 41,449 07
$188,928 33

Add the foregoing items of expenditures together, and what the Council had no control over, which the editor of the Courier, and you have the sum of $1,297,252 36, leaving for disbursement by the General Council the sum of $1,000 463 50 in four years. What this sum there was expended during that time, for the completion of the Beargrass Cut off, erection and repairs of bridges, bowdering of Main street, Portland Avenue, Third street, Sixth street, Broadway, and the expenses of Fire Department, and the erection of the Police Courthouse —objects of general utility to the city at large—the sum of, viz:

Beargrass cut-off $48 467 02
Bridges 16,442 54
Boarding of streets 67,621 06
Police Court-house 12,600 00
Fire Department 77,971 34
$223,101 96

In the last year's expenditures on account of fire department, several notes given for the purchase of hose, &c., are not included in this item, but are added under the head of bills payable.

The residue of the expend tures for the same time are found in the items of expenses of the almshouse, hospital, work and pest houses, police salaries, in municipal officers, executive of police, cleaning and repairing streets, grading and paving of intersections of streets and alleys, cleaning and repairing of pumps and wells, public printing, "old liabilities," interest on city bonds, and other items of a similar character, and the payment of the city's notes to herself.

In the item of old liabilities the city paid out for 1855, "advent (Know-Nothing party)," the sum of $39,414 21, lapping over from other years, and sons of them dating so far back as 1851

In the item of bills payable, is included as an expenditure the notes given by the city proper government to the sinking fund government for borrowed money, and which has properly no business in the general expenditures, and has heretofore only appeared in the specific accounts, but, as the editor of the Courier did not understand it and made so much clamor because the specific accounts which guard the transactions between the sinking fund, schoolhouse fund, school fund, water rax fund, I., and S. railroad fax fund, and city proper government appeared larger than the general expenditures, I included bills payable when really not one dollar was received by the general tuesury from that source, and thus swelled the expenditures up parently some $80,000.

The same with the workhouse. I have given in the receipts from that place, only the cash, paid in the treasury from time to time, and made no estimate upon my books of the stone furnished the public streets, which amounts to some $9,000 to $10,000 per annum, and, if sold to individuals, would appear in the books. The keeper of that institution reports to the Council the quantity, quality, and price of stone furnished the street inspectors, which is filed and does not come to my office at all. As the editor of the Courier can discover the workhouse fa s self supporting establi hment, because if the stone used upon the streets was pur based from Chas. Hute or some other quarryman, thousands of dollars would be paid out of the treasury where none goes out now for street stone.

As to the market house expenditures so recklessly made, the salaries paid to market masters (during the time specified amount to $7,980 (six market houses) which deduct from $29,330 72 would leave expended for gas lights, erections of new buildings, and repairs of old, the sum of $21,430 72. And as to the discrepancy of $400 between the receipts of the editor of the Courier, and you have the sum of $1,000 463 50 in four years, leaving for disbursement by the General Council the sum of $1,000 463 50 in four years. TO THE PUBLIC.

I CALL attention to the notice of the Peoria Insurance Company from the Peoria Daily Press and Tribune, which notice was voluntary on the part of the editors, who know what they say to be true. Such evidence must put to blush the petty malice and ill at the Peoria Insurance Company, by some machine shadowers at our city. The Company has a paid capital of $200 00, and a surplus of $52,500. This surely is sufficient guarantee to all who will insure. The Company have never had a dollar's resistance to the only loss in Louisville for the last 12 months in the card of Wm. Mershman. I hereby invite those who want insurance to give me a call. The agency is not under the control of the underwriters of this city, but free and unincumbered. Risks taken on my own and other companies at reasonable rates. Marine policies issued, and the Peoria Marine and Fire Company do a general marine insurance business.

JOHN B. MCILVAINE,
Agent of the Peoria Fire and Marine Ins. Co.

At the office of J. B. McIlvaine & Son, No. 372 Main st., up-stairs.

Louisville, February 21, 1859.

A CARD.

OUR tobacco factory was very near being destroyed by fire on the night of the 27th of January, on Main, next Ninth street. The roof being partly burned, and the under floor were removed in the street, and was partially injured by the water and rough handling of the firemen. Mr. J. B. McIlvaine, the agent of the Peoria Insurance Company, came very promptly and offered for them to be repaired, and Adjustor Lee was immediately upon the premises. Adjustor Lee arranged, and he has the case and the adjustment in hand, and is removing the debris from the flames, and is removing the brick out and back into the house. And with Promptness on the part of the Adjustor, and in the part of the company in paying losses, I hope to see the Peoria office succeed to a good share of the business of our city. WILLIAM MESSERVEY.

Louisville, January 26, 1859.

[From the Louisville Daily Free Press and Tribune, Feb. 12th, 1859.]

THE PEORIA MARINE AND FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY. It is with pride and pleasure that we call the attention of our readers to the statement of this company in our col umns this morning. It is the first detailed statement in a condition of any home company that we have ever seen, and it ought to be satisfactory to the most fastidious. Such a statement is calculated to inspire confidence in the best-taught capitalists. Such an array of assets, amounting in all to $652,536 24, shows most conclusively that we have a company to rely on that can pay its losses as well managed as any other, no matter where located. As to the Insurance and liberality in the settlement of all its losses, no company has a better reputation. The Peoria Company is doing business in most of the Western and Southern States, including Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Missouri, and Kentucky, where it is obliged to file an annual statement of its condition with the Auditor of each State in which it is transacting business
